

Dear Mr. Mayor,

I am writing to you because I believe our town needs to find more ways to build community. One way that I think our town could build community is by having an Easter egg hunt. Easter egg hunts are fun and exciting. They are a great way to encourage people to go outside and take walks. In addition to this, an egg hunt would be a great way for our town to build community because it would be so inexpensive. In fact, you can buy eggs for only $1.58 a dozen. That is because there are so many chickens in the world. In fact, for every 1 person on the earth, there are three chickens. That is a lot of chickens and a lot of eggs too. An Easter egg hunt would be a great way for our community to celebrate and support one another. It would encourage families to get outside, get together, and explore the town. This egg hunt would benefit both the young and the old because everyone could come and participate.

Sincerely,

Rachel Henke
